Medicated Poultry Mash Is Effective

Government Trials Show Remedy Deworms Flock

Use of a medicated mash containing nicotine - phenothiazine has proved effective in deworming poultry, it was shown in trials conducted by the department of agriculture.

In the government trials, two kinds of worms (cecal and round) were checked and kept at a low level by using a medicated mash containing nicotine, bentonite (a clay-like substance) and phenothiazine in ordinary poultry mash. Says the government report:

"Under experimental conditions the treatment expelled approximately 99 per cent of the two kinds of worms. Under field conditions, the feeding of this medicated mash to chickens for three consecutive days, at intervals of three weeks, maintained a low level of parasitism in the treated birds.

"Fifteen grams of 40 per cent nicotine sulfate solution were combined with 151 grams of phenothiazine and 207 grams of nicotine bentonite in 44 pounds of ordinary chick mash."

This combination of nicotine, bentonite and phenothiazine has been found effective in research carried on by private organizations, and there are products on the market of essentially the same composition as that used by the agricultural department.

Drawing shows method of installing section of vitrified clay pipe for use as storage pit for fruit, eggs, milk and vegetables. Note that bell rests on bricks. Spigot end should protrude above ground two inches so dirt fill will slope away from opening. At bottom is layer of coarse drainage material. Top opening covered with gravel screen or with wood or metal lid.

New Method Devised For Treating Posts

A new method of treating fence posts and freshly sawed green lumber has been originated at the Lake States forest experiment station. This procedure, the "dry salting" method, consists of applying a mixture of copper sulphate and sodium dichromate in powder form to the surface of freshly peeled green posts and freshly sawed green lumber.

The mixture of these chemicals dissolves in a humid atmosphere and clings to the surface of moist posts and lumber when applied as a powder.

The method results in deep penetration of the preservative which appears to be firmly fixed in the wood so that it is not readily leached out. A definite advantage of this process over any other now available is that treatment can be concentrated at the ground line and top where more protection against decay is needed. The resulting posts have an attractive blue color which is not readily leached out, and tests indicate that the preservative is relatively noncorrosive to staples and wire.

Small Amount of Salt Needed by All Pigs

After several years of tests, the Missouri experiment station has found that hogs having free access to salt consume an average of only a fraction of an ounce per head daily. However, this small amount of salt caused these hogs to make much faster gains than hogs fed a similar ration without salt. The tests indicated that the best way to feed the salt is free choice in mineral mixture.

OBITUARY

HARRY MORTON MARSHALL

Harry Morton Marshall was born November 16, 1926. He passed from this world September 12, 1947.

From birth he was afflicted in body, but intellectually and spiritually he was above average. His parents did every thing humanly possible for his triumph over his physical affliction and for his comfort. He bore patiently his sufferings. Once he said to his mother, "Other boys can do things I cannot do, but I can do some things they cannot do."

He could not attend school regularly, yet he graduated with honors from Pamplin High School. After graduation he took some studies by correspondence from Chicago University in preparation for creative writing which he planned to make his life's work. Last season he was substitute - teacher at Pamplin School.

When a small boy he manifested a real interest in all nature, contrasting on birds and later making quite an exhaustive study of those of our own state in connection with their relationship with the native of flowers. He spent many solitary but happy hours in the woods and fields making first hand studies and drawings, and later paintings. To quote from one of his writings, "God was very close during those walks."

He was a lover of music. His appreciation of classical music was quite out of the ordinary. He had learned to perform on the piano much to his own enjoyment and for the entertainment of others. His soul seemed to well up with heavenly appreciation as he played the spiritual, "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?"

When quite young he and other children were not allowed to attend Sunday School because of infantile paralysis. He secured permission from his mother to invite the children to meet under the large holly tree in their yard where he told them Bible stories. The impulse afterwards manifested itself in a larger way. October 4, 1936 he united with the Pilgrim Holiness Church. In the fall of 1946 he and his mother moved to Pamplin and transferred their membership to Beale Memorial Church. Here he took an active part in the work of the Church and Sunday School. At the prayer meetings and in the Young Peoples' meetings he took a keen interest. At the discussions in these services he showed an intelligent grasp of the Scriptures and independence of thought. His Christian life was one of rare beauty, deeply pious and thoroughly unselfish. His personality had outgrown the body that clothed it and was ready for promotion. God liberated him from the physical handicap that he might be free to continue the development of his personality under more favorable circumstances and in closer fellowship with Divinity.

For his mother, who so tenderly cared for him and loved him with a love that was mutual, we extend our sincere sympathy and congratulate her upon her training of a character of moral beauty.

JOHNSTON - CARTER

The marriage of Miss Ruth Carter, daughter of Mrs. Willie Walker Carter and the late Mr. Carter, of Appomattox, to Lester Ray Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Johnston, of Lynchburg, took place Friday evening at eight o'clock at Liberty Baptist Church here. The Rev. J. Marshall Walker, pastor of the bride, performed the ceremony before an altar covered with green ferns and large white chrysanthemums and candlebra.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Ellsworth P. Carter, U.S. Navy, wore a gown of ivory slipper satin, fashioned with high round neck, scalloped yoke of marquisette, long sleeves tapered to points over hands, shirred basque and full skirt with long train. Her full length veil of illusion fell from a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a white satin prayerbook with white orchids.

Mrs. Paul Edward Buettner, Jr. of Dayton, Ohio, was her sister's matron of honor. Her gown was of orchid taffeta made with an off-shoulder neckline, tight fitting bodice and full skirt. She wore long white mitts of net and carried an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Davidson, of Richmond; and Miss Evelyn Tucker, of Brookneal; Miss Della Coffey, of Lexington, and Miss Pal Dalton, of Lynchburg. Mr. Johnston had as his best man his brother, Charlie Johnston. The ushers were Joel F. Carter and David W. Carter, brothers of the bride; Waverly Almond and Ralph Burch, of Lynchburg.

Mrs.Frank Goosmof Lynchburg, vocalist, sang, "At Dawning" and "Because" before the ceremony, concluding with "O Perfect Love" as a prayer. He had as his accompanyist his sister, Miss Gillette Goosm. The bride's mother wore a gown of aqua crepe with corsage of orchid gladioli at the shoulder. A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will make their home in Lynchburg.

Food Supplants Weapons on Ships

Holds of Cargo Vessels Now Packed With Products To Aid Germany.

BREMEN. — To help keep postwar Germany from starvation, an ancient ship has emerged from the graveyard for ships. She is the SS. Parkersburg Victory. She looks just like another freighter. And she is.

She once carried cargoes of destruction against Germany. But she has been called out of postwar retirement to join a fleet of more than 700 ships now bringing food and other products to help Germany live.

Holds formerly loaded with tanks or guns now are filled with food, fertilizer or cotton under the British-American aid program.

Docks Suffered Much.

How these cargoes arrive and are distributed was described by James L. Wayland, chief of the military government export-import section.

Amid incredible bomb wreckage to the rectangular-shaped harbor the quays are lined surprisingly with 54 shoreside cranes. Some survived the war undamaged; others have been repaired.

Tied alongside the quays are eight American ships, facing toward the harbor mouth so they can make a run for safety in case of fire.

They are mostly Victory and Liberty ships which transported the Allies to triumph.

Their wartime gray coats have yielded to new paint jobs—black hulls, white superstructure and colorful smokestacks.

Not Worried.

Typical among them is the Parkersburg Victory, out of Baltimore. Her cargo is 9,000 tons of fertilizer —ammonium nitrate, the same type of cargo that exploded in the Texas City disaster.

The chief mate appeared unworried. But a navy fireboat, gray with red trim, stood alongside, just in case.

Nearby was the John Clark, unloading 8,500 tons of flour, and the Stella Lykes, discharging 10,000 bales of cotton from New Orleans.

The food and fertilizer pass into German control the moment the crane deposits it from the ship. The cargoes are forwarded to their destinations by barge over the vast canal system or by train.

Both American and German authorities said there was "very little looting" of the food while it was en route. Because it traveled in bulk, it did not lend itself to pilfering, they said, and was without guards except for German railway police.

Seizure of Atom Goods Now Defined as War Act

LAKE SUCCESS.—Seizure by any nation of atomic stockpiles and facilities always will be a signal of war, United Nations atomic energy delegates declared in a preview of their second report.

"The seizure (by any nation or group of nations) of stockpiles, production facilities and facilities utilizing nuclear fuel will always be a danger of such magnitude," the delegates said, "that seizure should be recognized by all nations to mean that a most serious violation of the treaty has taken place and that the nation is about to embark on atomic warfare."

Bridegroom Broke Early; Had No Cash for the License

DETROIT.—Elmer H. Dupke, 21-year-old prospective bridegroom, thought he had taken care of everything when he appeared with pretty Margaret Traub, 20, to apply for a marriage license.

But he neglected one important item. Asked for the fee, a red-faced Elmer searched in vain until the bride-to-be handed over the bill.

"But he'd better not let this become a habit," she said.

Use of Surgery Blasted In Treating of Arthritis

CHICAGO.—Thousands of America's arthritis victims are needlessly undergoing costly, mutilating surgery in their efforts to overcome the painful and crippling affliction, this remark was voiced recently by Dr. E. C. Andrews, of Ottawa, Ill., before the convention of the American Society for the Study and Control of Rheumatic Disease, a national organization of physicians specializing in diagnosis and treatment of arthritis and kindred rheumatic conditions.

Dr. Andrews, director of the Ottawa Arthritis sanatorium and Diagnostic clinic, says that, "the majority of the nation's arthritis victims are unnecessarily having gall bladders, tonsils and teeth removed in a vain attempt to halt the destructive processes of the condition.

"Arthritis still is being treated as a disease in itself," Dr. Andrews stressed. "Arthritis is not a disease. It is the result of glandular and dietary deficiencies and imbalances in the functional systems of the body."
